Avoid the crowds and take a trip to the remote temples of Koh Ker and Beng Mealea, also known as the Pyramid and Titanic temples!

Begin your day with a 40-kilometer comfortable ride in one of our A/C cars up to the wild and overgrown Beng Mealea temple.

Beng Mealea has shown the true power of nature to visitors, as the jungle has well almost reoccupied the temple. This temple is absolutely stunning, and it is much less packed than the main Angkor temple complex, allowing more time for quiet reflection and better photo opportunities. Following that, Koh Ker Temple is abandoned in the forests to the north of Siem Reap, the ancient capital of the Angkorian empire (from AD 928 to AD 944).
